

The Bible is the most important Book ever written, because it consistently declares to be the authoritative, truthful, and inerrant Word of God. Christian researchers and scholars of every age and fields have laboured extensively to produce evidence that totally proves these claims.

And that evidence is nothing short of overwhelming. It ranges from hundreds of fulfilled prophecies, to an incredible accuracy concerning science and history. It also documents a phenomenon of transformed lives, and the positive influence the Bible had on the laws of nations, cultures, and the scientific world, to mention just some.

Considering this, one is forced to marvel that so many people today continue to have doubts. Note, we are not speaking of those who reject the Bible's authority deliberately. The question concerns those who claim to be genuinely searching for truth and meaning.

It is true the Visible Church has reached the point of having only a form of godliness, but that in no way discredits the Word of God. On the contrary, it is yet another living proof of its authenticity!
